Introduction to Theatre Design & Production Crafting a Character Costume

Date: May 7, 2020

Lesson: May 7, 2020

Objective/Learning Target:
The student will develop a character.

Crafting a Character Costume

Let's Get Started / Warm Up Activities:

Think about a favorite character from a television show, movie, or video game. How did the character's costume help tell the story?

Lesson: Creating a Character

Today, you will develop an original character that you will draw a costume rendering for tomorrow.

One of the first steps a costume designer must follow is pulling all the information they can from the script about the character in order to develop a clear design.

Today, instead of using a script you will develop the story of an original character.

Practice: Develop a Character

First, choose one of the following character types:

- The Bride: She comes from a wealthy background and is very concerned with being in fashion. She has always dreamed of a big traditional wedding.
- 2. The Monster From the Black Lagoon: He is icky, he is slimy, he is disgusting. Enough said.
- 3. A Shakespearean-type wood nymph fairy (non gender specific): Your basic crafty little mischief-maker. Should look "other-worldly" and may have magical powers.
- 4. A Lion: King of the jungle. This lion is from a children's story theatre script and should have a good humored storybook style to him.
- 5. A Tree: This tree is very overgrown and old and is, in fact, a sinister old witch who has had a spell cast on her a hundred years ago! It should be free to move around because there is much choreography planned for it.
- 6. New-age Munchkin: This little one has evolved from the days of Oz. He/she is hip and up-to-date, but still holds onto the hippie values of long ago

Practice: Develop a Character

Next, answer the following questions about the character you choose:

- 1. Character's Name
- 2. Character's Gender (How do they identify?)
- Character's Age
- 4. What are the character's interests?
- 5. Write the story of the character. Include where they are from, the time period, family members, favorites/likes, etc.?
