

German Virtual Learning

Genitive Case

Day 1

German 3/4

Lesson: [April 13, 2020]

Objective/Learning Target:

I can identify the genitive case in English.

Bell Ringer: What is Genitive?

Take a minute and use google to figure out:

What is the genitive case?

What is Genitive?

The genitive case in English could also be called the possessive case.

But what does it look like?

Examples:

That is the dog's food.

I like that person's coat.

That is the father's son.

I like the carrot's flavor.

Take a second. Practice finding the Genitive in English.

The dog's tail is long.

That person's coat is very long.

Does the cat's tongue get stuck on paper?

Did the little birds' nests get blown down from the tree?

Who knew the Muffin Man's muffins were marvelous?!

Elsa's song from the movie was really moving.

How'd you do? The answers are highlighted.

The dog's tail is long.

That person's coat is very long.

Does the cat's tongue get stuck on paper?

Did the little birds' nests get blown down from the tree?

Who knew the Muffin Man's muffins were marvelous?!

Elsa's song from the movie was really moving.

Check out this short video about Genitive Case for English!

We use the genitive to show ownership = possession!

GENITIVE #1
Irregular plurals
with no s-ending

one woman
two women

HUMAN BEINGS

Add an apostrophe + s:

LangCorr
Easy correction. More time.