Exercises

Choose the correct form of the imperfect subjunctive.

1. Estaría genial que alguien (repartieras/repartiéramos/repartiera) la comida.
2. Estamos muy felices de que te (casaras/casaran/casara) en Cuenca.
3. Me gustaría que Paco y tú (viniera/viniesen/vinieseis) a la fiesta.
4. Es posible que la mercancía (llegaran/llegara/llegaras) ayer.
5. La empresa buscaba trabajadores que (vigilase/vigilaran/vigilaseis) el almacén por la noche.

USANDO Que → That EN EL IMPERFECTO SUBJUNTIVO

- When you hear people speak in Spanish, you might hear the word que a lot. The que might actually mean different things depending on where it is placed in a sentence and where the accent mark falls.
- For this imperfect subjunctive example, the closest translation we can get to expressing que is with the word “that”.
For instance, if you wanted to say something like “I study so that I can speak better Spanish”, the that would be the replacement of the word que when using the imperfect subjunctive.
- The imperfect subjunctive is used in the dependent clause after you use the word que but only when the independent clause is in the past tense.
