(CCSS:ELA-Literacy.SL.7.5; TH:Pr5.1.7.b; TH:Cr3.1.7.c)

Review

So far you should have:

Folded your paper into 6 sections

Labeled your sections with title, star, directors, producers, cast, acts

Written and described your directors

Written and described your producers

Title

Today you will pick the title of your play.

The Title Should:

Predict the content

Reflect the overall tone of the play/musical

Include keywords

Catch the interest of audience

Additional Information

Watch the video below to help you think about your title.

Title Continued

Titles should be short in length.

Taking what you know about your life, create a list of possible titles.

Think about a theme, phrases or terms you use. If you are into softball what terms from that sport can also apply to your life? (Keep your eyes on the ball)

Ideas from previous students

High Hopes (her middle name was Hope)

Island Life (She was Palauan)

The Show Must Go On

Picture

Finally design the front cover with a picture.

Think about your title. What picture would be on the front of your playbill?

What picture conveys the story of your life?

Ask the people in your house for good ideas or help you choose between your ideas.

On the final page are some examples of playbill front covers for inspiration.

EXAMPLES

Your Turn

On the front of your playbill you will put 3 things.

Title

Star: Your first and last name

Picture

Trace it out on a blank piece of paper first, to make sure you have it just the way you want before putting it on your final copy.

Self Assessment

Is the title easy to see and read?

Does it represent your life?

Is the picture eye catching?

Did you put the word Star followed by your first and last name?

Are you happy with the results? If not now is the time to change it.
