Background

When practicing with a partner, what do you say when you get stuck in your script?

LINE

Calling for “line” gives your practice partner the cue that you need the next line in the script.

What do you do if you don't have a person to practice with?

Record Your Script

In order to practice without a partner/script keeper, you can record your script.

In this method, you will listen to your script as well as rehearse along with the recording.

Record and Listen

- Record yourself saying your lines
- Listen to your lines often

Recording Options

- Use any cell phone or tablet to record.
- WeVideo
- ScreenCast-O-Matic
- ScreenCastify
- App: Script Rehearser
- App: Lines 2 Memory

- 1. Select your preferred way to record your script.
- 2. You will record lines 1-20 for this week's work.

For WeVideo, please see the following slides for directions.

Tips for recording

- Speak at an understandable rate. SLOW DOWN...
- Say your script with as much emotion and character as you can.
- Speak clearly with diction.
- Project and be sure your volume is easy to hear.
- If you mess up, keep going. You can always edit out the mistake later or you can leave it in. This recording was made by YOU and for YOU. No one else will be judging it.
- Get over how you sound. Most people do not like their recorded voice. Focus on the words and understand that this is for the purpose of memorization.
