You will need your research chart and outline for today's lesson.

Original Oratory (OO) Writing Process

Pick a Topic

Chose a persuasive topic using the suggestions and guided questions on our "Topic Selection" page.

Research Topic

Look for stories and statistics that help prove your point. Stories, stories, stories. Examples, examples, examples.

Write Outline

Organize your thoughts using our Five Pyramid Method (Introduction, 1st Main Point, 2nd Main Point, 3rd Main Point, Solution)

TODAY'S FOCUS

Write Rough Draft

Start with the first main point, then 2nd, then 3rd. Save the intro and conclusion for last.

Revise Final Draft

Have your teacher, another adult, or a peer look over your rough draft. Make any suggested revisions to develop your final draft.

Warm Up

Today we are writing your second and third main points. Review this speaker's second main point (5:40-7:45) and third main point (7:45-10:00) before beginning today's lesson.

As you watch, pay attention to the speaker's use of evidence, sources, and stories.

Second and Third Main Points

Today you will be taking your notes from your outline and turning them into complete, fluid sentences for your oratory. Typing out your rough draft will make it easier to revise later, or you can handwrite it if needed.

Remember, we will write your introduction last, so don't worry about it today.

The time limit for Original Oratory in middle school is 6 minutes, so your second and third main points should each be around 60-90 seconds when read aloud.

Use the checklist on the next page to make sure you've included all you needed in your second and third main points.

Writing and Revision

Use your outline as a resource as you write your rough draft. Your speech should follow the same structure used in your outline. Use this checklist to make sure everything is included in your speech that should be, then ask a peer or adult to check it as well.

Introduction	<input type="checkbox"/> Effective Attention Getter <input type="checkbox"/> Significance of Topic <input type="checkbox"/> Thesis Statement <input type="checkbox"/> Outline/signpost your speech (first I will, then I will, then I will, etc.)
