MAKING CHOICES

Part of life is being able to strike a healthy balance between our needs and our wants. It's also about focusing on what we consider to be truly important. Imagine you can have any 3 things that you want. In return you must give away three things that you already have. What do you want and what will you give away, and why?

Divide your paper in half and complete these following:

What I Choose to Have

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

I would want these things because:

What I Would Give Away

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

I would want these things because:
